The book is described as a 'memoir', but unlike any memoir I can recall this one made me stop and think several times while reading. On the surface, it is a tale of one person's decision to enter a field that is foreign to most of us, and her experiences during her training and subsequent graduation. There are the usual vignettes of happy, sad, and startling moments that one expects in a memoir. Linking all these are the author's feelings ... her feelings at the time as well as reflections some y Byran J Reid offers Funeral Director Services on the Central Coast.
