Do you love to read and have you ever toyed with the idea of writing and publishing your own work someday? Do you have a vision to change people's lives for the better? Each person has a story to tell and given the right opportunity, would love to share it with others.

There is so much to say and a willing audience is waiting for that inspiration that only you can provide. The dream to write is one that can easily be a reality with determination, the right knowledge and tools at your fingertips. In this book, Matthew shares his best practices to help you make that dream come true. The tips he gave are simple and practical, all a product of his own experiences and designed to help you avoid the difficulties that a lot of new writers fall into. He will show you how passion, perseverance and a lot of love poured into any work can bring forth excellent results. You will read about how it is possible to overcome obstacles that may appear in your path with the help and guidance of the Holy Spirit. The books you write may not be perfect.

It may not turn out to be what you envisioned it to be, but if it can change the life of just one person, the effort will be worthwhile.
