Un romanzo che è la narrazione di più luoghi, di più sentimenti e di più linguaggi. Dalla Spagna all'Italia e dall'Italia alla Spagna. Pedro Felipe Colella è il protagonista e il pensiero di questa storia in cui il bene e il male si incontrano tanto da vicino da non riconoscersi e da animare la vita di tutti i personaggi che si muovono intorno a lui. Legami che distendono, legami che feriscono e altri ancora che non vengono compresi. Lotte che appartengono al passato e tutti così presenti da cambiare il corso della storia.

È il ritratto di una grande passione per una donna, per la propria famiglia, per la propria terra, per il mare che bagna tutto senza prenderlo.

Un mare, appunto, che non c'è, perché lascia le pareti di una stanza color blu e un luogo in cui il pensiero diviene la realtà dei ricordi. «Pedro Felipe è uno che chiude gli occhi per non vedere. Chiude gli occhi mentre si afferra al passato e si illude che così possa fuggire al dolore. Pedro è nato in Spagna, si trasferisce poi a Milano con i suoi genitori, ma lo segna per sempre la sua città, come nella poesia di Kavafis (invecchierai nello stesso quartiere... sempre farai a capo a questa città). Pedro spesso non fa le scelte giuste, ma uno arriva alla vita senza libretto di istruzione. Lui stenta a vivere come stentiamo noi tutti, e perciò è vivo. Lo accompagniamo, fin dalla nascita, nelle sue incertezze, le sue paure, il suo amore. Emanuele Tirelli ha scritto una storia senza effetti speciali, con il gusto dolceamaro della vita vera. La sua scrittura è umile e lo ritengo un grande merito, perché umile doveva essere l'approccio a quel grande mistero che chiamiamo vita e che Pedro Felipe prova a decifrare. Come tutti noi.» José Vicente Quirante Rives, direttore della casa editrice Partenope (Alicante, Spagna)
